

MENA NWC

Middle East and North Africa Network of Water Centers of Excellence

MENA NWC Membership

Becoming a member of the Middle East and North Africa Network of Water Centers of Excellence (MENA NWC) means joining with leading regional and international research and educational institutions that are working collaboratively with governments, businesses and civil society organizations across the region to solve longstanding and emerging water issues.

Membership Categories

The Network has four membership categories:

MENA Water Research Center

- Research and educational water centers based in the Middle East and North Africa

Affiliate

- Research and educational institutions based outside the Middle East and North Africa
- Government institutions, including ministries and line agencies
- Non-government Organizations (NGOs) and Civil Society Organizations (CSOs)

Private Sector

- Private sector entities with interests in the Middle East and North Africa

Individual

- Experts, consultants, students, and others with interests in the Middle East and North Africa

Becoming a Member

To apply for membership, please submit a letter addressed to the Network's Executive Director, Dr. Shawki Barghouti, that describes your organization and its research interests/capabilities in the water sector. Letters should be sent to the Network's Membership Coordinator at info@menanwc.org. Applications will be promptly reviewed by the Network's Board of Directors and Directorate/Interim Management Unit (IMU).
